EDUCATION

Education is an equalizer and the foundation to achieving virtually every goal. The educational options available, ranging from technical training to advanced degrees, is ever expanding. Yet, advocates for equal access to education, and the resources available for securing an education remain a vital force.

NCBW-Omaha began providing scholarships to women in 2002. We strive to encourage and motivate non-traditional aged women to achieve their educational goals. We are also educational advocates, encouraging colleges, universities, and other educational providers to reach-out to women and girls of color and to ensure the tools for success are available to these students.
